

If you have an email address, you've probably received several HOW WELL DO YOU KNOW _____ surveys via a forward in an email. Although I don't carve out the time to actively participate in these well meaning and often revealing inspections, I do read answers provided by close friends, especially the ones with a loving sense of humor.

Then I found a survey called HOW WELL DO YOU KNOW YOUR CHILD? in a book called How to Influence Children by Charles Schaefer. It occurred to me that this survey would be a fun way to probe relationships between parents and children. What happens after the survey is up to each individual. However, I'd love to hear back from you. And by the way, you may take this survey with your spouse or significant other - just change the players to suit.
